Many not-for-profit organizations find it difficult to find the right mission-based executives to start with, so once they do find them, they want to keep them. Join us for an informative webinar discussing compensation for those key executives who help keep the organization going.

Our distinguished speakers from RSM McGladrey's Human Capital practice, Maureen Driscoll, Managing Director and Bob Harrington, Director will discuss the topics surrounding the issues of trends, best practices and regulatory considerations for executive compensation in the not-for-profit world. Some of the key topics we will cover include:

- Trends in executive pay
- Board review of CEO performance and determination of rewards (including incentives)
- Intermediate sanctions
