Program Content

Webinar Description:

Do you understand both the requirements and limitations that your staff should be familiar with, to properly communicate and eventually get payment for services, from the moment a patient walks through your doors? Understanding responsible parties and third party liability can be the key to satisfying your patient's financial obligations. This means more capitol for the facility, less complaints from the patients and better compliance with applicable laws.

Meet the Speaker

Irene Hoheusle has been a part of Account Recovery Specialists, Inc. (ARSI) since 1997 and is Vice President of Collections and Education. She has earned the designation of Professional Collection Specialist from the American Collectors Association International (ACA) and has obtained a Scholars Degree and Fellows Degree from this international organization. Ms. Hoheusle currently serves as one of five members nationwide on the ACA Research and Development Advisory Committee and one of eight members on their Education Council which creates educational materials used by credit and collection professionals across the nation. She has been quoted in multiple articles in the collection industry's prestigious 'Collector' magazine published by the ACA and will be presenting at ACA's spring meeting. She is based in ARSI's Wichita office and oversees collection operations in Dodge City and Garden City as well. Ms. Hoheusle specializes in the areas of Workers Compensation, Probate, and County Liability. She is the compliance officer for the company and is responsible for employee compliance and collection training. She also regularly presents educational seminars for our clients and many healthcare organizations, including the Sunflower and Pioneer Health Network, GPHA, HFMA, KAHPAM and KMGMA.

Target Audience – Hospitals, health systems and medical centers

Who Should Listen – Hospital CFO's, Business Office Managers, Directors of Revenue and similar staff leads, trainers, supervisors, admission and reception staff.
